

Donna Reed Foundation for the Performing Arts (DRFPA) 2022 Iowa Merit Awards for Dramatic Performance

Since 1987, The Donna Reed Foundation for the Performing Arts has recognized merit and the pursuit of excellence with awards in honor of Iowa actress, Donna Reed. Backed by the generosity of her home community, membership, and past awardees nationwide, award recipients have followed Donna's footsteps in demonstrating their own talent, perseverance, and passion for the performing arts.

Purpose:

DRFPA 2022 Iowa Merit Awards for Dramatic Performance help recognize excellence and promising young talent from Iowa interested in pursuing further enrichment and education in the performing arts. The 2022 program focuses on student dramatic performance. Measures of merit are performance dedication, demonstrable skill, scholastic recommendations, and future goals in the performing arts.

Qualifications:

Open to all Iowa high school students (grades 10-12) in good standing at an accredited high school and with grade point averages of 3.0 or greater who are studying drama and have acted in official school productions for 2021 and/or 2022. Students must be enrolled – or recently graduated – for the 2022 academic year to qualify

Jury Notes:

Performance submissions should demonstrated a range of acting abilities – from drama to comedy, either combined in a single 3-5 minute performance or two to three different scenes not totaling more than the five minute sample criteria. Dramatic performances could be a scene from works like "To Kill a Mocking Bird" or short dramatic audition monologues. Comedy segments or monologues are at the application's discretion, demonstrating intellectual humor. Lewd or questionable material is discouraged in the sample.

Ideas for monologues can be found from many sources including the Internet. The search engine Google returns ideas for possible leads with search criteria such as "one minute monologues," "30 second monologues," "audition monologues," "monologues for auditions female," "short female monologues," etc. Original work is also welcome when it helps demonstrate performance range and impact.

Requirements:

Each application requires the following submission elements by the final deadline. Any supporting material received after the deadline will disqualify the application as incomplete.

1. Fully completed application (all sections) with final signatures
2. Audition sample (3-5 minutes maximum) with clear audio, video, and lighting quality (see Video Submission in application for details)
3. Head shot portrait of student
4. One signed letter of recommendation from drama educator

Deadlines:

Application Announcement – January 2022

Submission Deadline – July 29, 2022

- All materials received at the DRFPA in Denison, IA by 3:00pm CDT

Merit Award Notification – September 2022 (Exact date TBD)

Awards:

Variable, up to $1,000, may be awarded by the DRFPA at its discretion. Assessment of merit will include application contents, personal statement, qualities, and skill demonstrated in video audition sample, personal recommendation, and future potential.

Conditions of Awards:

1. Incomplete applications or materials received on or after the deadline will be disqualified from consideration.
2. Submission materials become the property of DRFPA and cannot be returned under any conditions. Please do not submit irreplaceable originals.
3. Awards are paid directly to the student. All tax implications are the responsibilities of the recipients.
4. Decisions to recognize merit are at the sole discretion of the DRFPA. Jury committee decisions shall be final.
5. Award recipients agree to DRFPA future media publicity in forms of name and likeness without further compensation or notification.

Applicant Personal Statement (max: 600 words)

Please tell us about yourself. Some things that might be helpful to us include your current and future interests in pursuing dramatic arts study, how you have seen improvements in your own recent work, any aspirational goals you might have, and what a merit award might mean to you. (Do not, however, feel limited to these ideas alone.)

Video Submission:

The DRFPA requires a 3-5 minute (maximum) video sample of a personal audition piece to help evaluate performance skill. The format is single person (or two person scene) shot against a plain background. Video camera or mobile device must be on a tripod or fixed mount. The performance space should be well lit with clear audio and sharp focus on the performer for proper judging. All video must be in landscape/horizontal format (no portrait/vertical video from mobile phones).

Note - No group performances or audience/back-of-the-auditorium/back of house videos will be accepted for consideration.

Please note the Jury Notes section from page 1 for requested content and form.

Your submission must include a short introduction (no more than 30 seconds) identifying:

1. Your name
2. Your city/town of residence
3. Your high school (current or recently graduated)
4. A brief greeting to the Foundation [optional]

This can be stated verbally or written as a slate on paper to help identify your video from other submissions. The length of this introduction section does not count against your content length of 3-5 minutes review time.

Digital video files of the following formats are acceptable for submission via DVD or USB key (must be readable by Windows Media Player, Apple QuickTime Player, or VLC player [videolan.org] for review). One readable copy of the media is required for submission.

Note that your original submission material cannot be returned under any condition. Please submit only copies of your work.

Acceptable video file formats include:

- MPEG4 video
- Apple MOV format files
- Windows Media Video (WMV) format files

Samples must be focused, well lit, and with enough audio clarity to evaluate performance. (Poor recordings may impact your performance evaluation.)

2022 Online Alternative - If videos are uploaded to a hosting site, then a valid link must be provided and content cannot be altered after the submission deadline. Additionally, the applicant understands there may be privacy, copyright assignment, server outages, etc. that may additionally impact their submission outside the control of the DRFPA if a hosting site provides access to their video for our review. Videos that have invalid date stamps or suggest work completed after the deadline may be rejected from consideration and may disqualify the application.

Supplemental for 2022 – In addition to the required 3-5 minute dramatic or audition performance samples, applicants can also include a three-minute interview with their parents or relatives on what the movie It's a Wonderful Life means to them and how it might have positively affected their lives. (This additional submission component is optional but should be lead by and include the applicant in the video.)

Head Shot:

A digital version of your portrait / headshot can be included on the same media as your video submission. Your file should be no smaller than 1800 x 1200 pixels (this is 4x6 inches at 300 dots-per-inch or dpi). It should be a well-lit and produced image for publicity purposes.

If you send a physical photograph, please label it with your name for easy identification.

Note that your submission material will not be returned, so only submit a copy of your portrait.
